

Copyright

The copyright of this teaching material is reserved and belongs, in the majority, to Dr. Paul W.J. Glover.

Certain figures used in this document remain the copyright of other individuals and companies, from whom permission should be sought before use. The exceptions are:

- Figs. 3.9, 3.10, 3.12, 3.14; J.S. Archer and C.G. Wall, who are thanked for their permission to use these figures.

The use of these teaching materials is restricted to the students and staff of the University of Aberdeen, and to individual persons to whom the material may be distributed by the author.

Permission must be sought in writing from the author and the individual contributing persons and companies before copying any part of these materials by any means.

Disclaimer

The material presented in these teaching materials is correct to the best of the authors knowledge, and represents information available to him up to 14th February 2001. While the best efforts have been made to ensure that the information is accurate, no guarantee of accuracy is given implicitly or otherwise.

Readers are warned that many of the figures (particularly graphs) serve to illustrate the teaching material, and no guarantee is made to the absolute accuracy of values that may be derived from them.